Still Serving and Operating Safely during the Pandemic

What a year 2020 has been. At Anderson and Shapiro Eye Surgeons, our main goal is to keep our patients and staff safe while providing excellent, state of the art health care. A few things have changed in how we provide care since COVID-19, and we are proud of our entire team for making the health and safety of patients and each other a top priority.

Some new screening precautions we have for our patients before stepping in the clinic:

- Patient, care givers, and staff are required to wear a face mask
- Provide the patient with hand sanitizer to ensure cleanliness
- Have the patient complete a health screening questionnaire regarding their current symptoms/previous travel history
- Take the patient's temperature

Our staff follows the same protocols right when we get to work! Once the patient is in the clinic, we ask that they stand six feet away from our reception desk when interacting with our patient service representatives. Our limited seating also allows social distancing to remain intact. Thanks to a local Madison vendor, Alpha Graphics, we have new protection breath guards on all our scheduling desks and on our diagnostic equipment to add another layer of protection.

During quarantine, as necessary healthcare providers, we continued to provide emergent ophthalmology care to patients, via both in person and telehealth visits. We continue to learn new ways to connect with our patients and have done "in car" visits for those at high risk. We are working to launch a new patient portal remote check-in process, to continue to reduce high touch interactions. Through everything, our main goal is to continue to provide a family-like patient experience even in these unknown times.

Working in healthcare through a pandemic has been new to us all at Anderson and Shapiro Eye Surgeons. Our team has demonstrated resiliency and problem-solving skills while we learned along with the nation to truly take each day as it comes. Our team's resiliency shines through every day, as each day brings on a new set of challenges. With every challenge we face, we push forward with compassion and grace. We hope that everyone is staying safe and being thoughtful during these difficult times!

Even during the pandemic, we are grateful to welcome our newest team members: Ophthalmic Technician, Jessica Flores, part time Optician, John Roberts, and our Administrative intern, Alexandra Van Fleet back for the summer!

Girls on the Run and Fleet Feet Launch SoleMates Program

Iconica celebrates 20-year anniversary of engineer Dan Dehnert

Dan Dehnert celebrated his 20-year work anniversary with Iconica in June. His history with the company, however, goes back much further. Dan has designed plumbing, HVAC and electrical systems on our projects ranging from small remodels to multi-million dollar complexes since 1993 when he owned his own engineering consulting firm, Mendota Engineering. Dan's design highlights include 10 waterpark resorts, 3 LEED-certified buildings, and over 20 office buildings right here in Old Sauk Trails Park.

Dan has seen many changes in mechanical, plumbing and electrical (MPE) systems in commercial buildings in the past two decades. Building codes have required lower energy consumption leading to more efficient lighting, heating and cooling designs. In recent months, with concern over virus transmission, Dan has been researching and implementing strategies to improve air quality in office buildings and other commercial properties.

When he is not engineering, Dan stays busy with home remodel projects, boating and golfing. He grew up in Middleton with two brothers and has lived on Lake Mendota for 40 years. In the past few years, he has been spending winters in Arizona and working remotely which turned out to be good practice for us!

Madison College Pivots in Wake of COVID-19

The closing of Madison College in mid-March due to COVID-19 also shut down its School of Professional Development and Continuing Education, which offers hundreds of professional development courses via individual classes and customized corporate training. As a result, the team embraced the transition to alternative means of delivery. Please check out the links below.

Webinars: <https://madisoncollege.edu/events-and-seminars>

Fall class schedule: <https://bit.ly/MATC-FA20>

Corporate Training brochure: <https://bit.ly/MC-BIS-Print>

Recently, corporate training programs have resumed on-site and at the College following social distancing and safety precautions. However, the pandemic has created opportunities for live online programs, online tapped video programming, self-paced online learning modules, and blended learning. All of these delivery methods focus on maintaining and promoting student engagement, adult learning methods, and content that is current and readily applicable.

2020 Forward Festival

As with most things in 2020, the Forward Festival will look a little different this year. It is our mission to still provide attendees with a worthwhile and empowering week of events and information, while remaining as safe as possible!

Since starting in 2010, the Forward Festival has been Madison's flagship technology and entrepreneur festival. # ON THE ROAD AGAIN

After multiple months of seeing fewer drivers on the road, AAA wants to make sure that you (and your car) are safely prepared to be back on the road. Here are some tips to help get you started:

PREP YOUR VEHICLE

- Take it on a test drive
- Have it serviced by a trusted repair center (AAA Car Care Plus or AAA Approved Auto Repair facility). Pay particular attention to the battery charge and tire pressure.
- Wash your car, clearing dirt and grime off windows and lights.

GET ENOUGH REST

Missing just two to three hours of sleep can more than quadruple your risk for a crash.

AVOID DISTRACTIONS

Even “hands-free” phone calls or voice activated smartphone apps can take your focus off the road.

SLOW DOWN

Don't let open roads become an invitation to speed.

WATCH FOR PEDESTRIANS AND CYCLISTS

More people are walking and biking right now, so be ready to safely share the roads.

HAVE YOUR AAA CARD HANDY, AND DOWNLOAD THE APP

Our roadside assistance crew are ready to assist members, and have implemented extra health and safety protocols.
